EXAMPLE 2. Find the solution set of the system: $5x^2 - y^2 = 3$, $x^2 + 2y^2 = 5$
Solution
1. To obtain equations having the coefficients of y^2 equal in absolute value, multiply the first equation by 2.
2. Replace either equation in Step 1 (say the first) by the sum of the equations. Use this replacement to determine values of x.
3. Substitute 1 and -1 in turn for x in $x^2 + 2y^2 = 5$. Write the resulting ordered pairs of numbers.
$10x^2 - 2y^2 = 6$
$x^2 + 2y^2 = 5$
$11x^2 = 11$
$x^2 = 1$
$x = 1 \mid x = -1$
$y^2 + 2y^2 = 5 \quad (-x)$

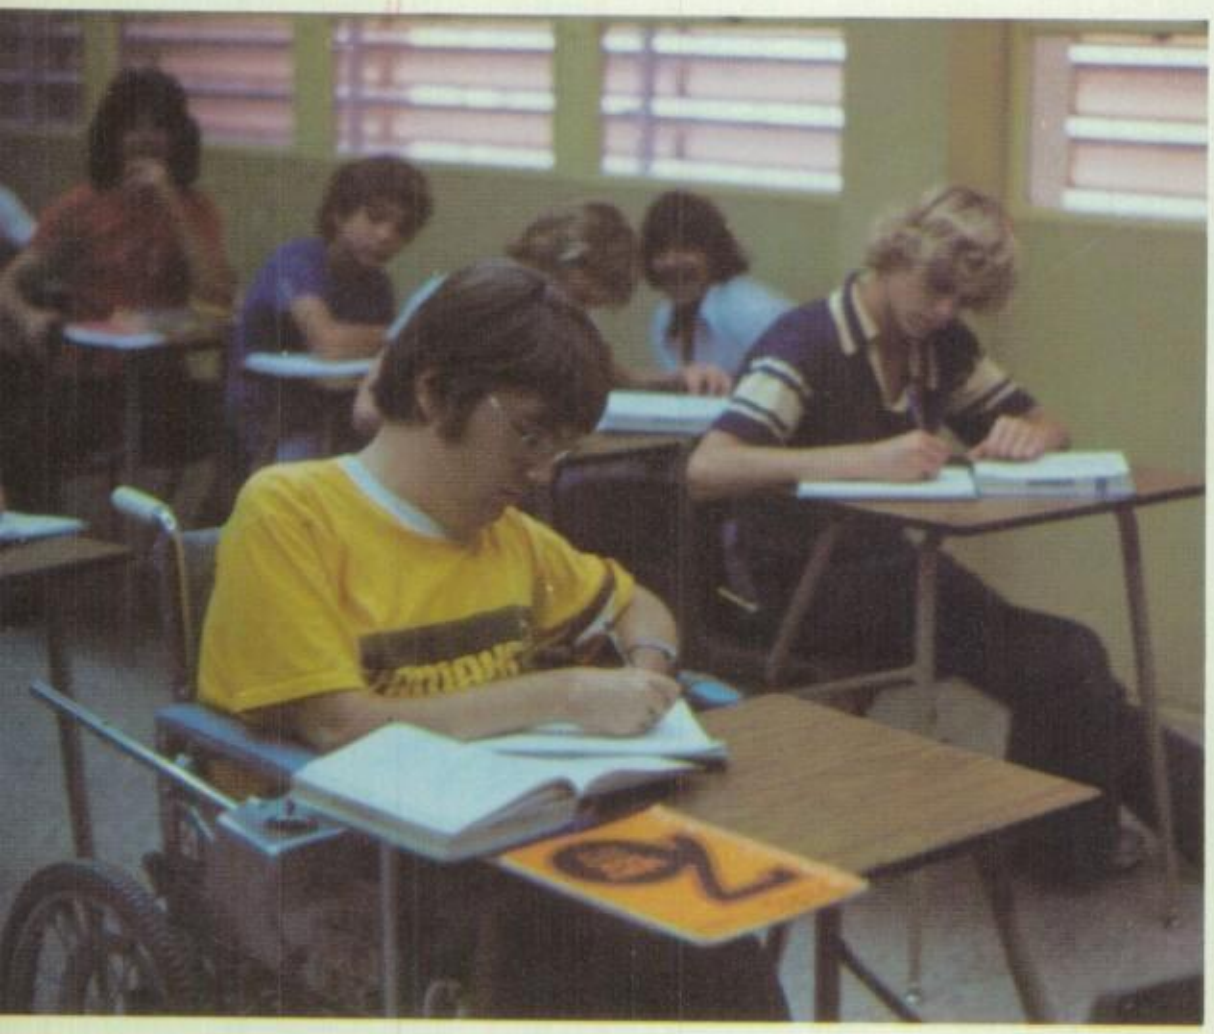
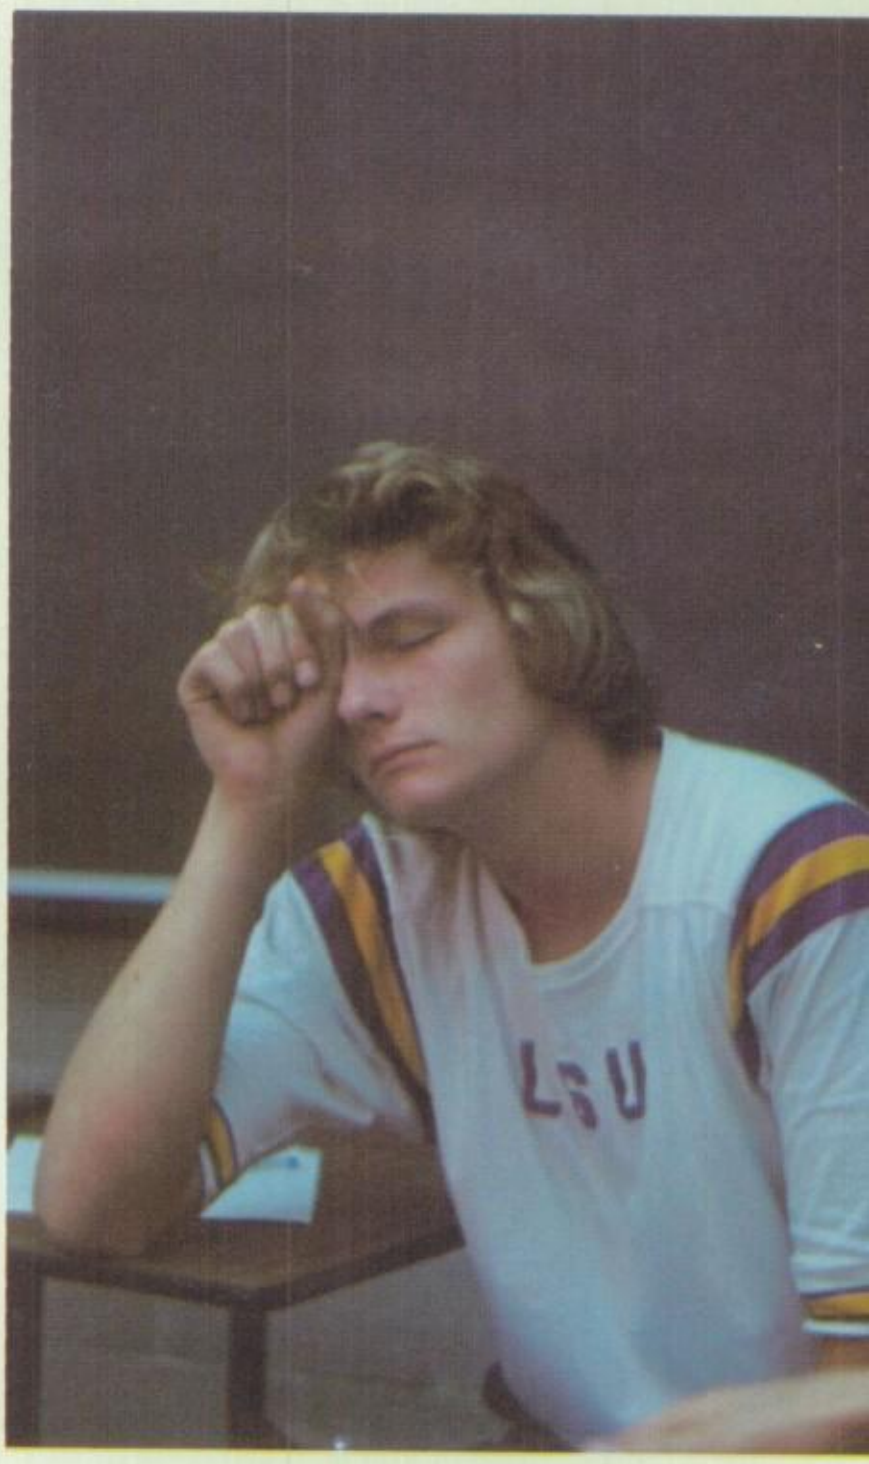
a moment stood still . . .

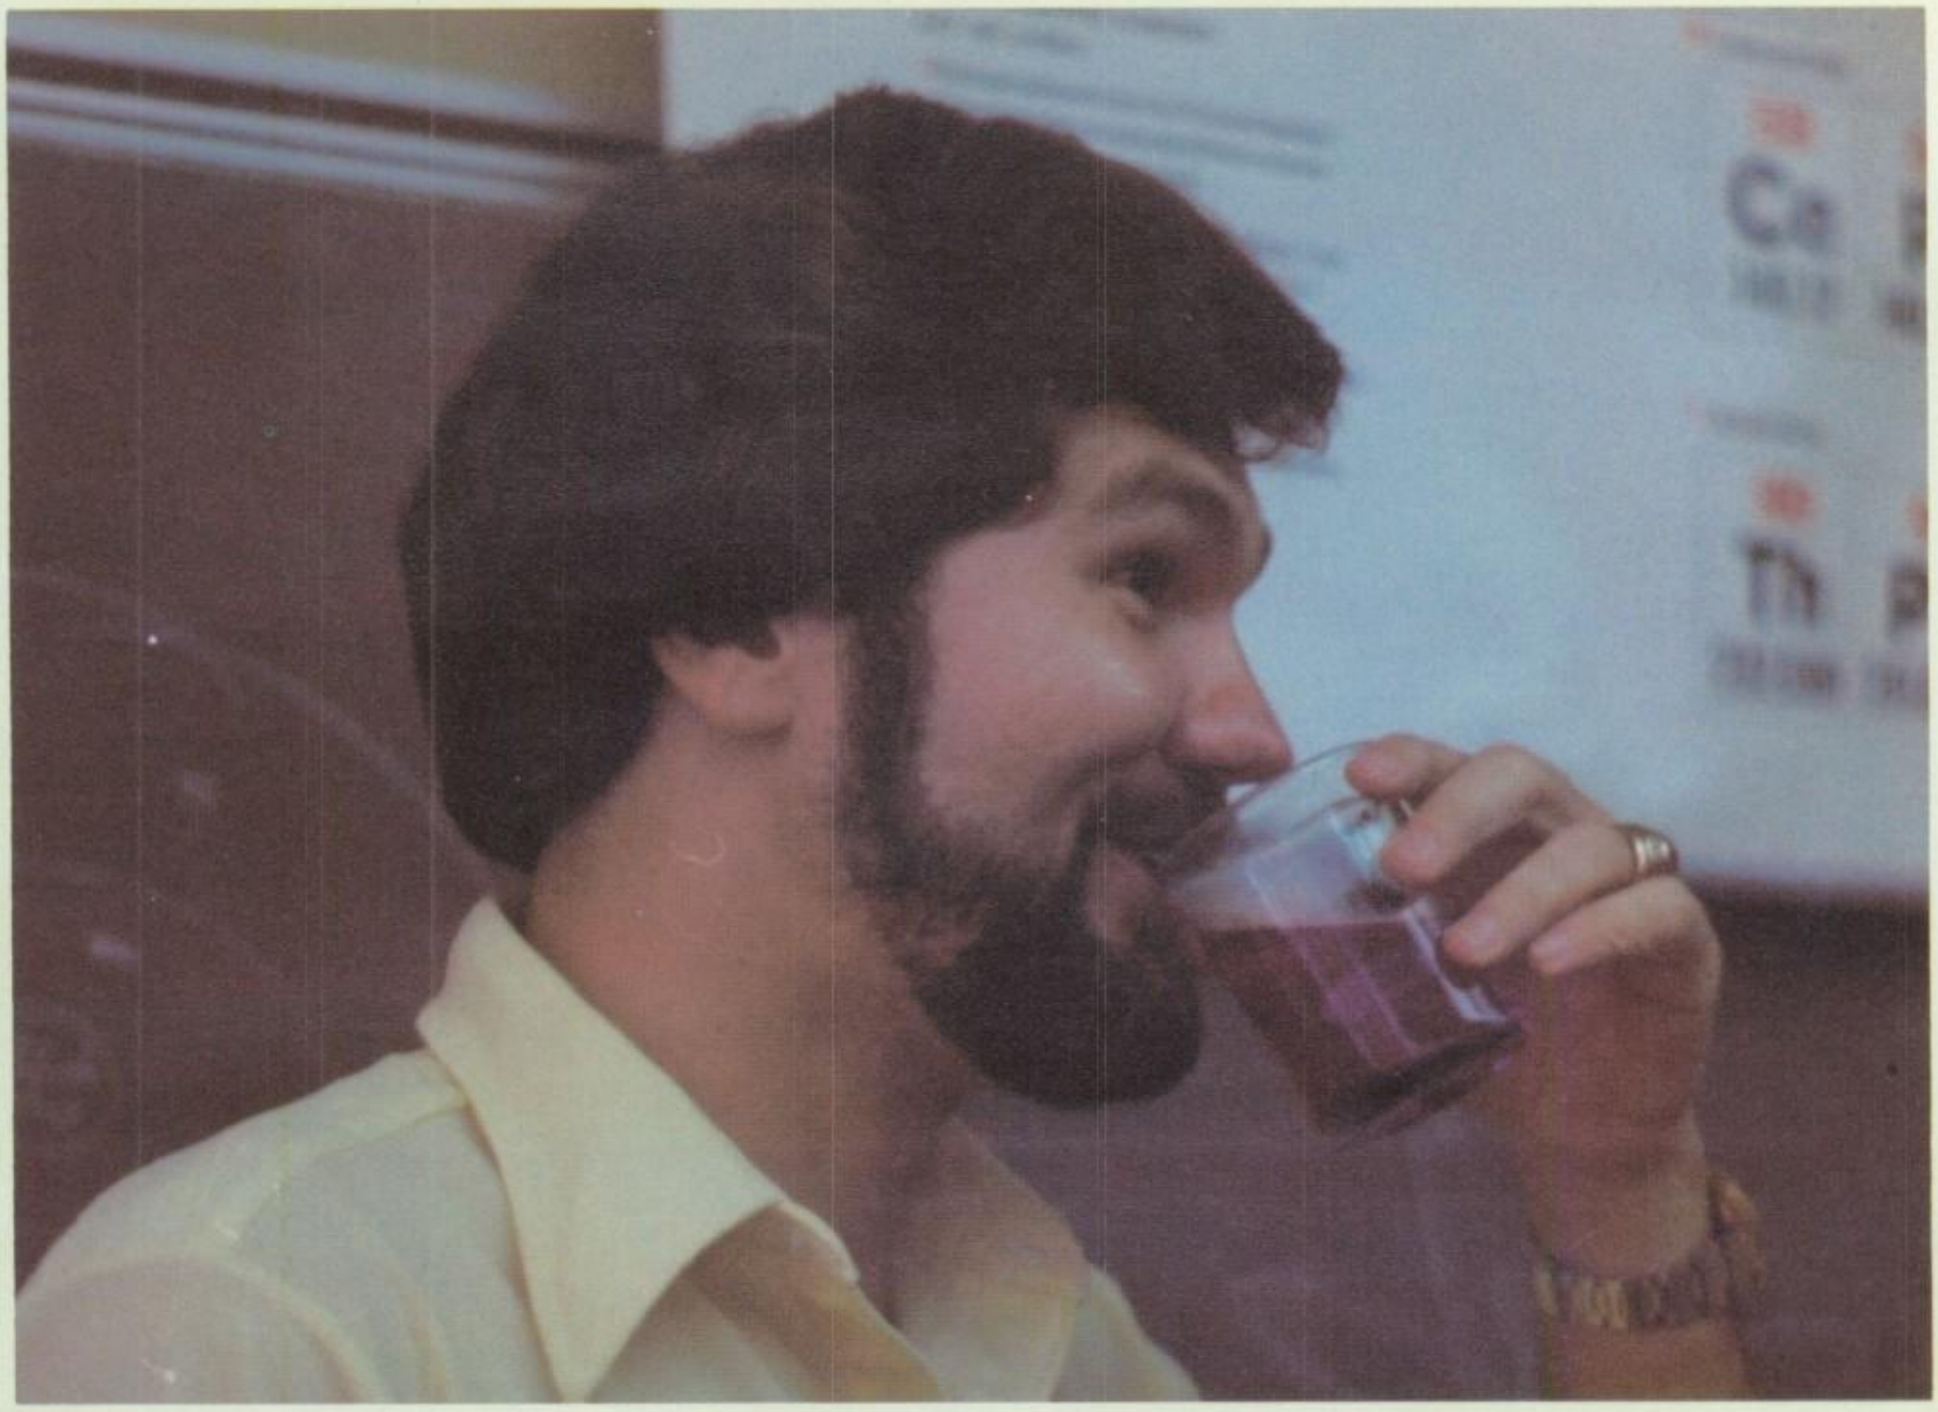
THE MOMENT BEGINS

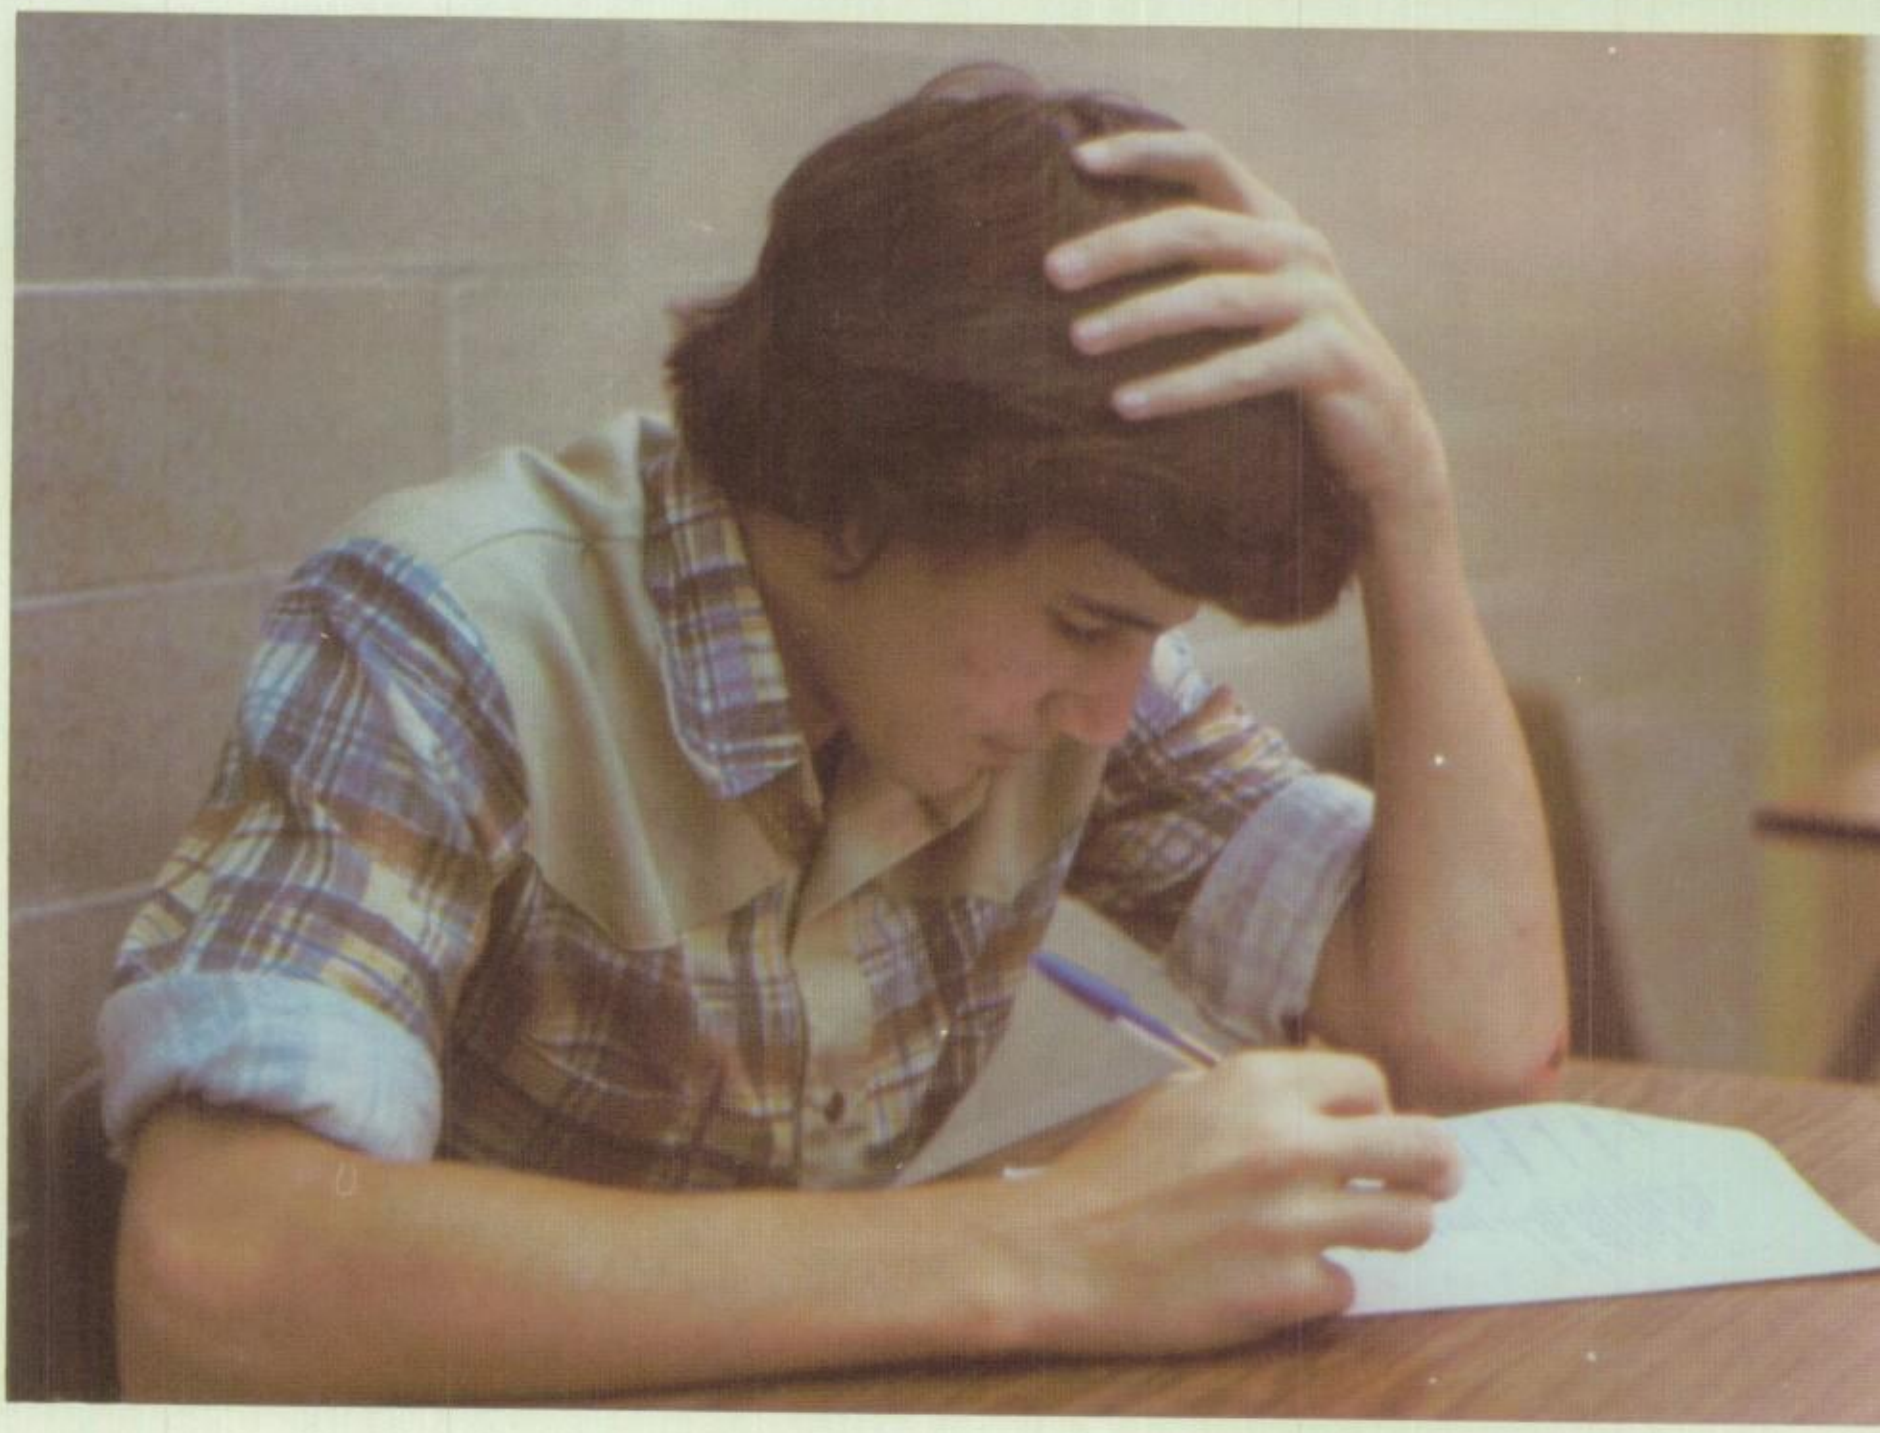
Through the lens of a camera, the world takes on a new exposure. A click and a flash . . . the action stops. As quickly as it stopped, the action starts again, but an emotion was captured, an expression preserved, A MOMENT STOOD STILL.

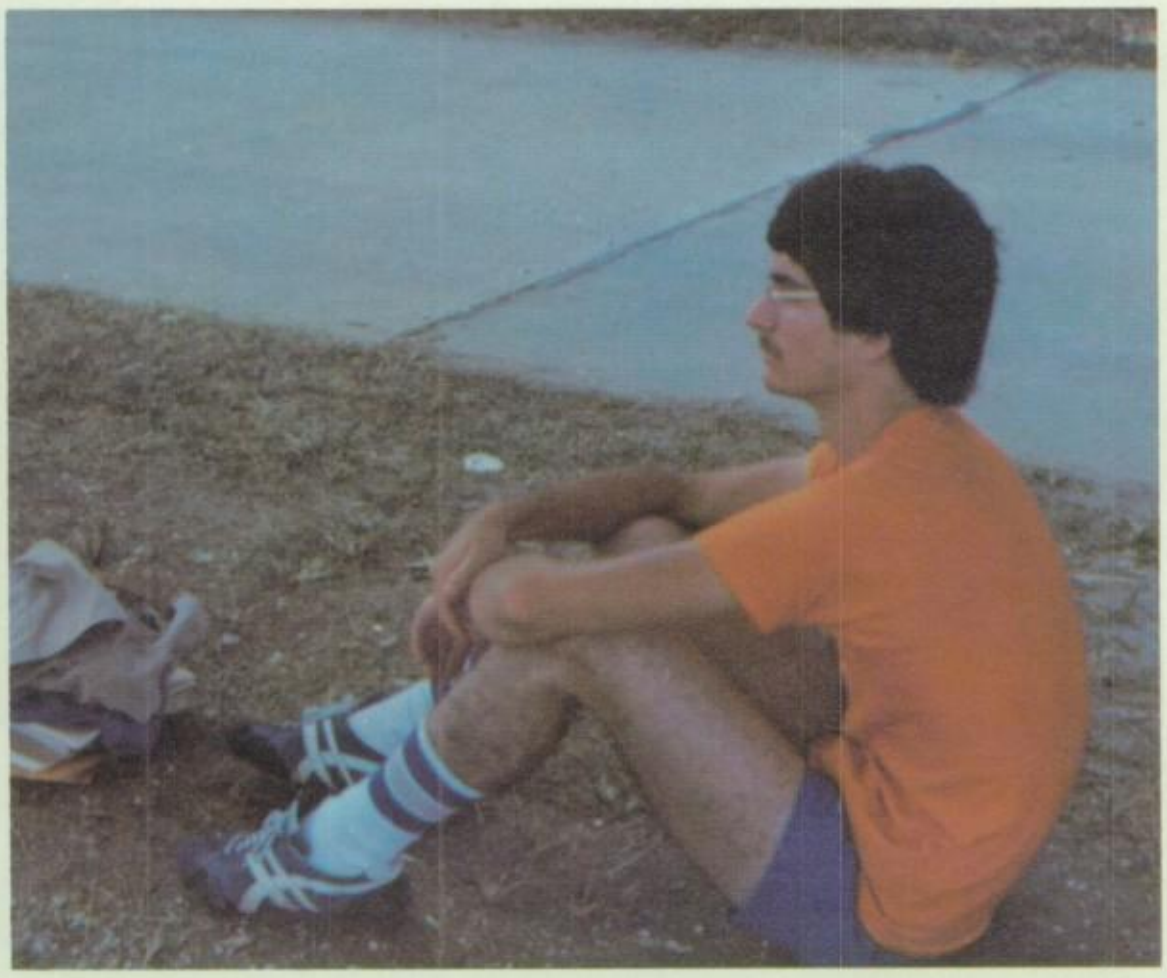
The moment begins . . . Listening to a teacher's instruction or writing a composition again and again, striving for perfection, the student's quest for knowledge is ever-present at East Jefferson . . . The moment stands still.



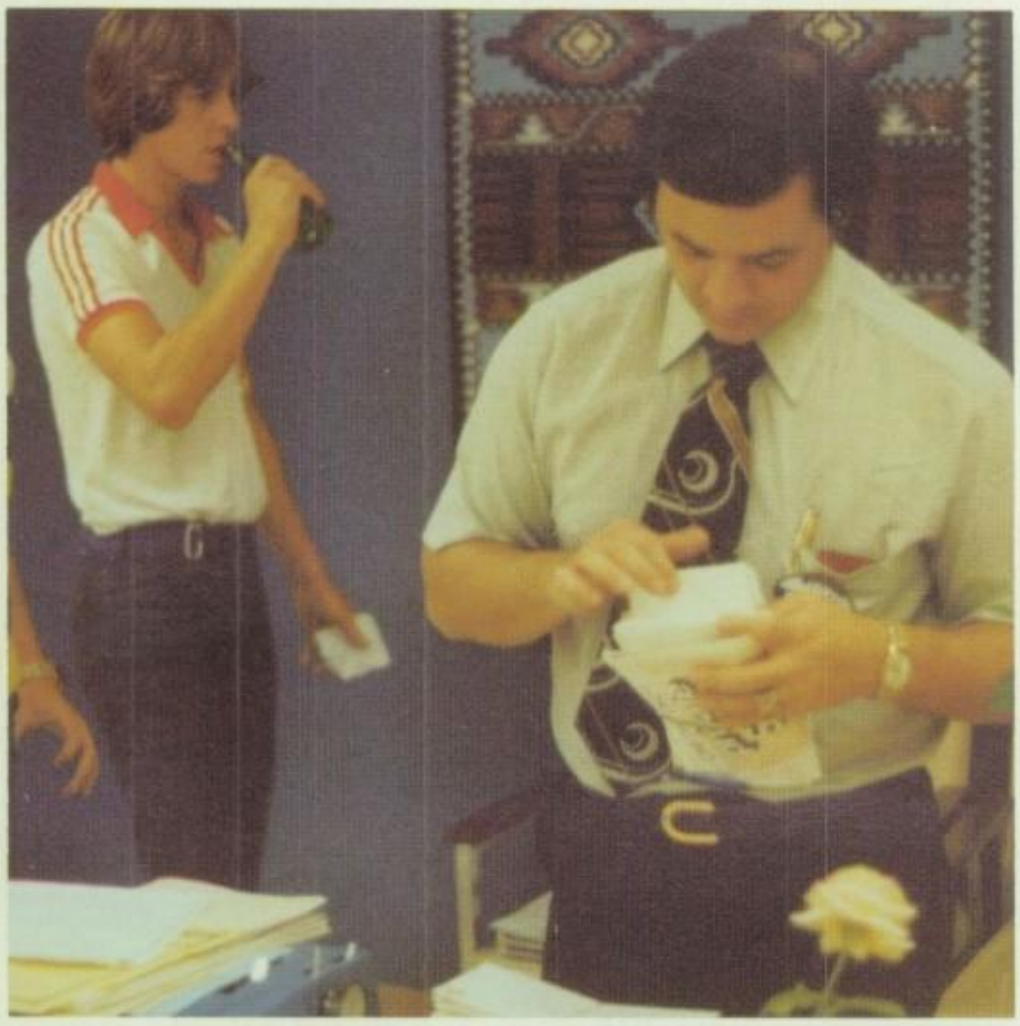




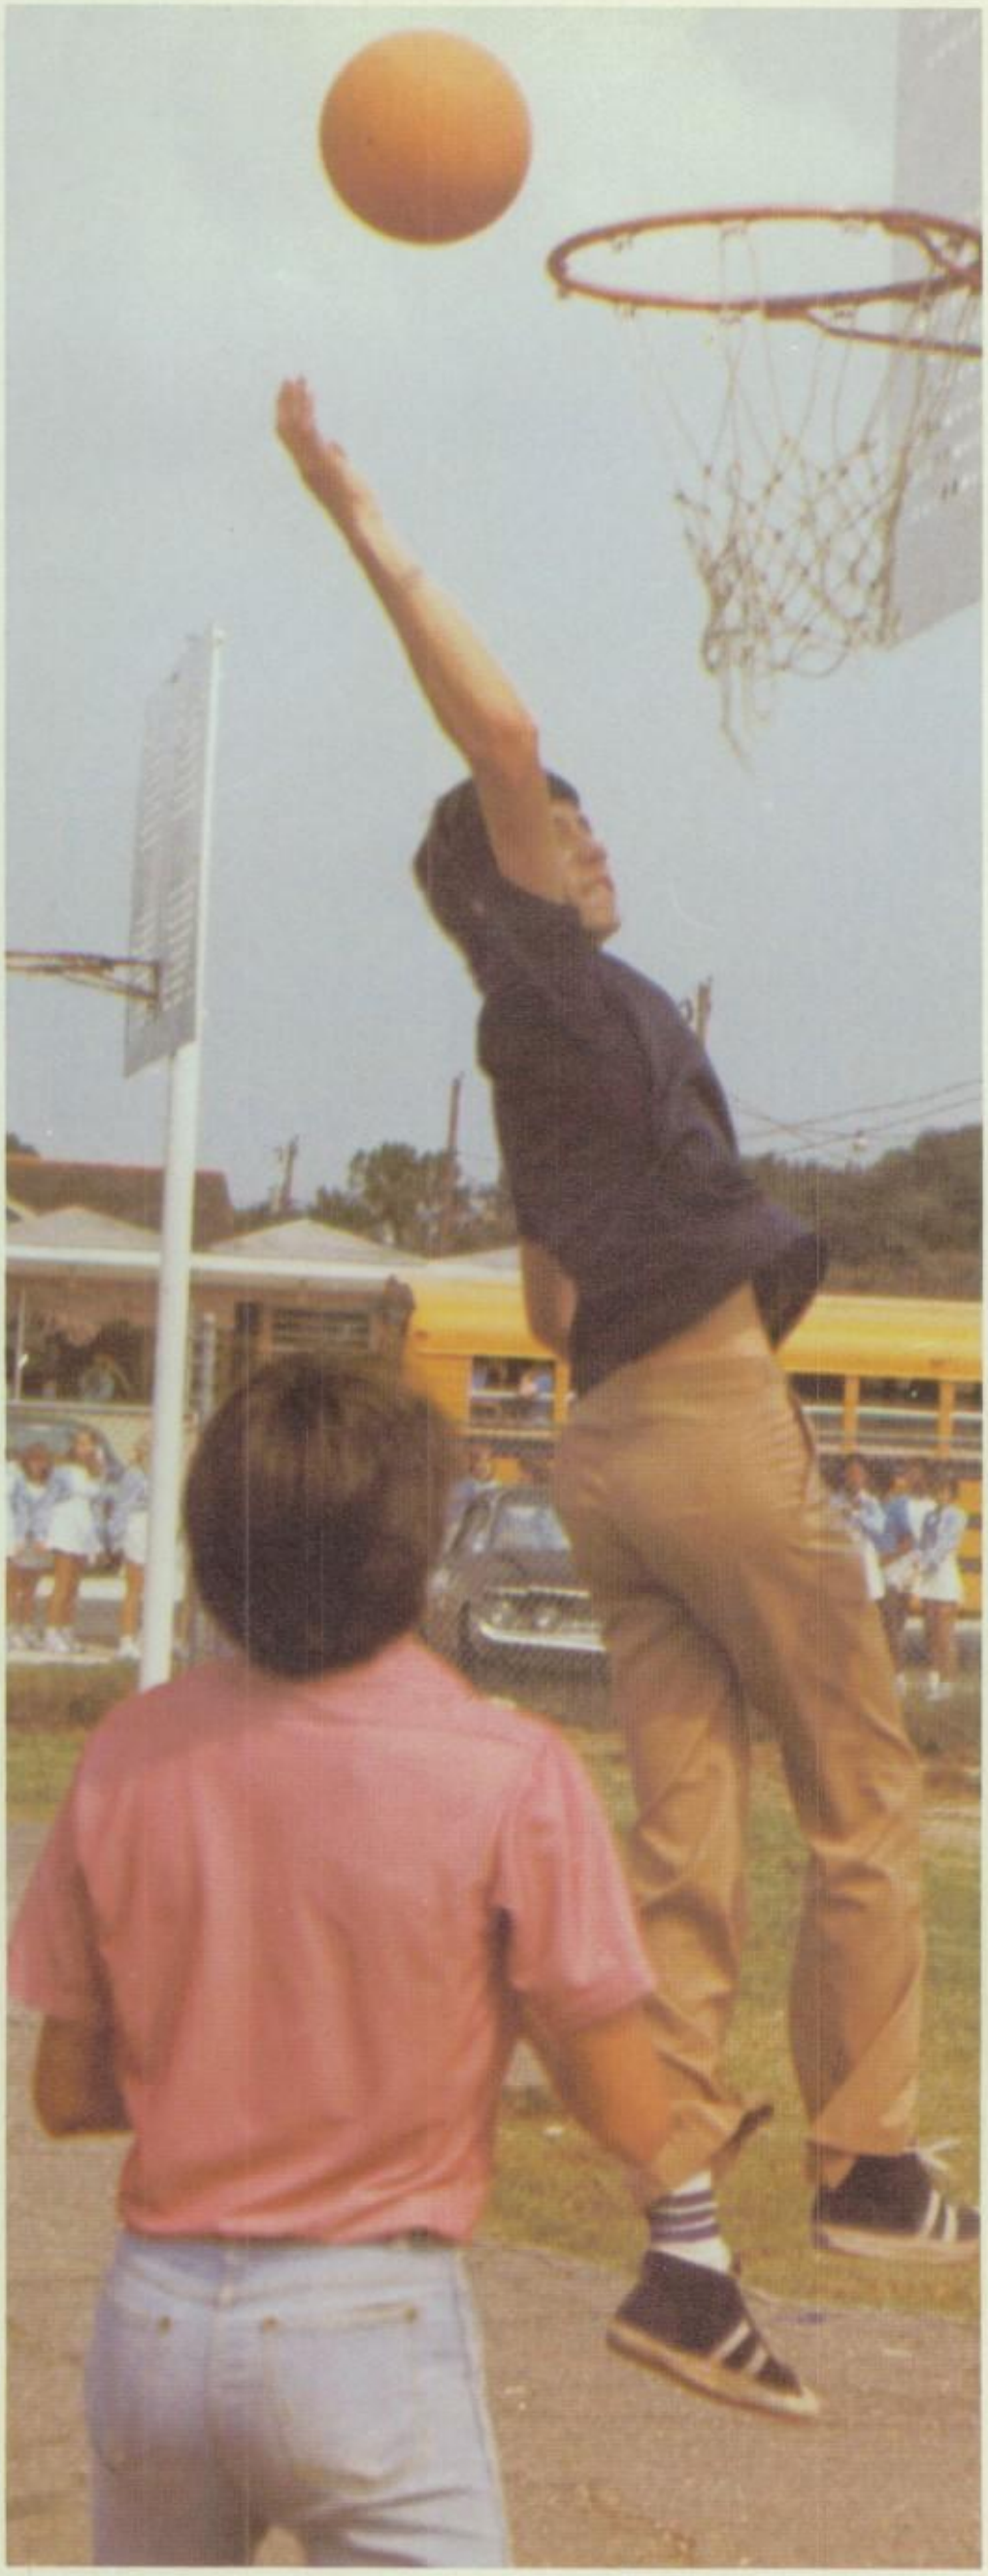




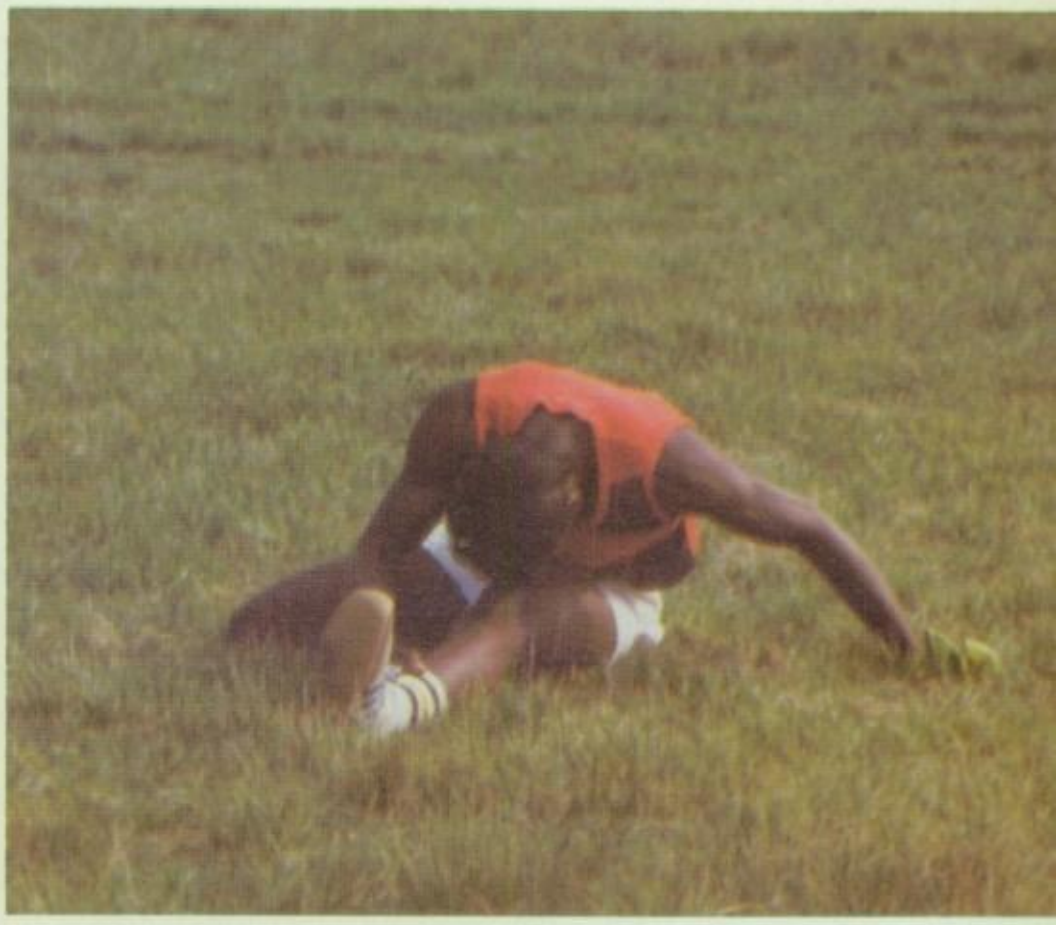
The moment begins . . . The students quietly relax during their lunch break. The shade serves as a temporary refuge from their daily routine. After eating lunch they discuss the day's happenings and make plans for the coming weekend. The bell sounds and everyone heads slowly back to class . . . The moment stands still.



The moment begins . . . an idea is voted into action by the students. With the approval and assistance of the faculty and administrators the thought takes shape. The creation of something tangible from something abstract instills a sense of accomplishment in each Warrior . . . The moment stands still.



The moment begins . . . Unknown to the crowds that pack the arena is the Warrior who plays the game only for enjoyment and strives only for personal satisfaction. Away from the books and lectures of the classroom, a lone student strives for excellence. Achievement is realized . . . The moment stands still.



The moment begins . . . Students are singing the fight song as the band plays. "All the Way Big Blue" echoes through the stadium. The powerful East Jefferson spirit unites the student body behind the team . . . The moment stands still.

The moment begins . . . The day is over, the year is over. Each student goes his separate way, but all remember the days spent at East Jefferson. A chapter closes in the life of a Warrior . . . This moment stands still forever.

ACTIVITIES

The school year shifted into gear with the smooth efficiency that is characteristic of East Jefferson. For the 24th time the peace and quiet of summer was brought to an abrupt halt by the E.J. bell. As the year began, the faculty and students planned to make '78-'79 the greatest year in the history of Warrior land.

Cheerleaders Have "Got That Spirit"

The East Jefferson cheerleaders attended camp at Ole Miss in Jackson, Mississippi. They learned new skits and many other cheers, which came in handy at pep rallies and games. The cheerleaders are the inspiration for E.J. spirit at football games and other athletic activities. They provide that extra something which gives the Warriors a winning edge.

Appearing regularly throughout the year, the 1978-1979 Warrior band displayed its many talents. Under the direction of Mr. J. Haydel, the band performed at the pep rallies, football games, and concerts.

The Warrior band was honored by having members selected to the La. All Star band and being represented at L.M.E.A. The entire force of the band celebrated the year's hard work by visiting Tennessee.

At E. J., football is not just a fall sport for the team. When the players come back from the Christmas holidays, they start working with weights. When spring rolls around, the team hits the field and practices after school every day. In the summer, about a month before school starts, the Varsity Football team is having two rigorous daily practices. Even during the regular season, the team practices after school each day. This system keeps the players in top condition all year round.

Warriors Play Tough

At E.J., an athlete is one who does not give up. This has been illustrated by the football players. Even though they won only three games, they did not lose by more than nine points throughout the regular season. The players did not let their past losses injure the team. They only worried about one game at a time and played up to their full potentials.

The East Jefferson Varsity Football Team ended its regular season with what might be called an unproductive 3-7 record. Their first game was against St. Augustine, who was ranked number one in the city, and who later captured the Quad-A state championship. Foreign Language, Driver's Ed and Library Expand Students Skills

The Foreign Language Department strives to make each student knowledgeable in another language. Students can learn Spanish, Latin, German, or French.

The Driver's Education at East Jefferson strives to produce safe and competent drivers. The instructors use class time to give notes on driving and then students are given behind-the-wheel training in cars provided by Crown Buick.

The Library at East Jefferson is equipped to help the students study or read for personal enjoyment. The students have the chance to work on additional subjects outside of class.

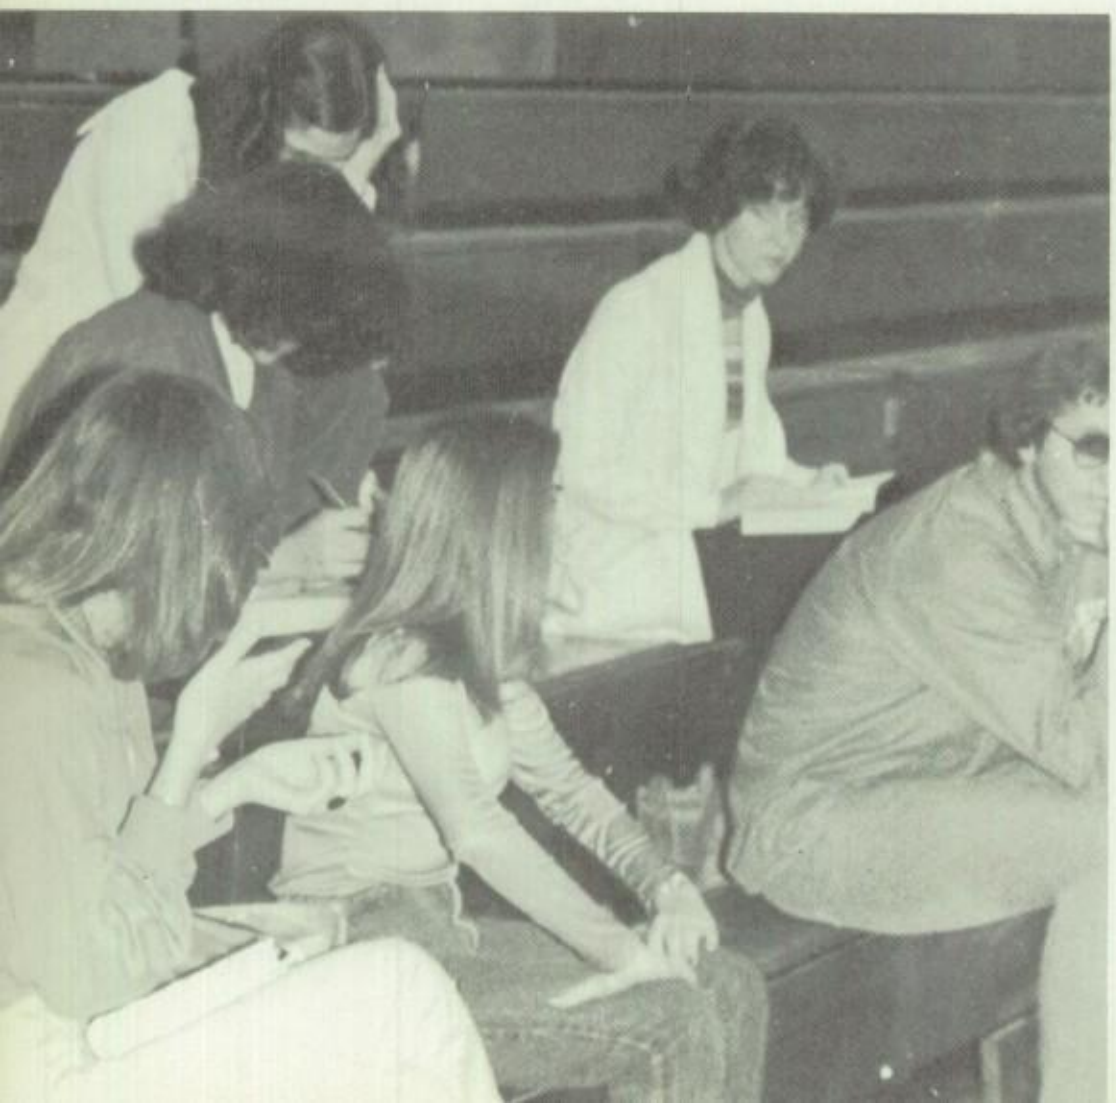
Girls Make It Easier for Warriors to Wake Up



Grace King and Riverdale Enhance EJ Campus

For the third consecutive year, a few fortunate young ladies from Grace King and Riverdale attended E.J. in the morning. The girls arrived each morning before homeroom and left after first period. They were enrolled in special courses which were not offered at their own schools.

1979 Leaves Its Mark on E.J.

An East Jefferson Christmas is a unique holiday experience. Besides a visit from St. Nick, an E.J. student can expect to see a Christmas tree hanging on Mrs. Van Hoven's door, decorative candle holders (senior prom favors) being peddled in the halls, and a rock concert in the auditorium.

After three years at East Jefferson, Tony Nicholich learns to go to all heights to escape discipline. At the top of the flagpole, Tony is almost out of the reach of the athletic Mr. Harney.

Students from E.J. and Ehret participated in an exchange day where they exchange phone numbers, addresses, other vital information and occasionally a class.

The Bonnabel art class came to E.J. on a field trip this year to display its creative talents. Quick work by the staff and students removed the destruction and restored the original form.

Tom-Tom has the blues? Yes, but with the weekly blue newspaper, the Tom-Tom staff has beat the financial crunch and provided the student body with more up-to-date information than in the past. At ten cents a copy, even Dan Murphy can find a few buyers.

EAST JEFFERSON

A

Warriors Finish Another Year

A band of emotionally unstable East Jefferson students don disguises to appear in public. The group has positively been identified as the Varsity Quiz Bowl team traveling west to escape the wrath of Miss LeBougeois.

At mid-term, E.J. students were forced to switch to digital watches to keep track of the school's new schedule. A new schedule was necessary to eliminate a too-long lunch period. Despite the resulting sixty-three minute classes, and a twenty-two minute homeroom, a smooth transition was made.

Is this E.J.'s varsity starting line? Actually, students enjoyed the presence of intramural sports at E.J. this year. Football competition was held between various organizations on the campus. Even the math brains of Mu Alpha Theta were seen to have muscles.

This year East Jefferson had many activities for the student body which ranged from movies and "Bong Shows" in the auditorium to faculty battleball and donkey basketball in the gym. Most of these activities were hosted to raise both money and the spirit of the school.

This year, E.J. lost the services of Mrs. Lazaro, an account's clerk. She was honored by a farewell party hosted by her co-workers. This was Mrs. Lazaro's third year of service at East Jefferson.

AMEN!!!

EXAMPLE 2. Find the solution set of the system: $5x^2 - y^2 = 3$, $x^2 + 2y^2 = 5$

Solution:

1. To obtain equations having the coefficients of y^2 equal in absolute value, multiply the first equation by 2.

$$10x^2 - 2y^2 = 6$$
$$-x^2 + 2y^2 = 5$$

2. Replace either equation in Step 1 (say the first) by the sum of the equations. Use this replacement to determine values of x.

$$11x^2 = 11$$
$$\therefore x^2 = 1$$
$$x = 1 \mid x = -1$$

3. Substitute 1 and -1 in turn for x in $x^2 + 2y^2 = 5$. Write the resulting ordered pairs of numbers.

$$1^2 + 2y^2 = 5 \mid (-1)^2 + 2y^2 = 5$$

4. The check is left [illegible]

As suggested in Fig[illegible] replaces the given hyperb[illegible] vertical lines.

ASSIGNMENT 79

1. $x^2 + y^2 = 13$
$y = x^2 - 7$
$x^2 + (x^2-7)^2 = 13$
$x^2 + x^4 - 14x^2 + 49 = 13$
$x^2 + x^4 - 13x^2 + 36 = 0$
$(x^2 - 4)(x^2 - 9) = 0$
$x = \pm 2 \text{ or } \pm 3$
$(2)^2 + y^2 = 13$
$4 + y^2 = 13$
$y^2 = 9$
$y = \pm 3$

$\frac{49}{-13}$
$\overline{36}$

$3^2 + y^2 =$
$y^2 =$
$y =$

$x^2 + y^2 = 5$
$(x-5)^2 = 5$
$x^2 + (x^2 - 10x^2 + 2$
